HONGKONG, JANUARY 5TH, 1882.

If we may judge from small scraps of information translated from Russian newspapers by The Times, the relations between Russia and China are still not altogether satisfactory. The Russians complain of Chinese duplicity, and it is evident that the pretext for another quarrel, if needed, would not require much manufacture. The Turkestan Gazette announces that a body of Chinese soldiers recently fell upon a party of Russian Kirghis, who had strayed into Chinese territory, near Sorlytam, the residence of the Tchugutchak Sziamban, and carried off their women and cattle. The Bachtan military commander has, in consequence, addressed energetic remonstrances to the Chinese authorities. This is one, we fancy, of many similar incidents likely to occur for the next two years, and which, unless efforts are made to stop them, cannot fail to produce ill feeling between the two countries. Another Russian journal, the St. Petersburg Novoe Vremya, in its issue of the 18th November, protests against the disposition manifested by the Chinese to postpone the occupation of Kuldja for six months on the plea of the want of sufficient troops. The Novoe Vremya observes "that the Chinese are merely pursuing these dilatory tactics in order to gain time for the recovery of the whole province, relying upon a recurrence of Russia's troubles in the Balkans." These brief extracts serve to show the state of feeling on the Kuldja question in Russia, and go to prove the justness of the opinion we expressed long ago, that the retrocession of the Kuldja by Russia did not necessarily mean that she considered it a permanent surrender. In fact, Russia appears to be even now cleverly laying out the ground for a future interference in Kashgaria by these complaints. No doubt her plans for ultimate recovery of the disgorged district have also been conceived, and will be put into silent execution when opportunity offers. In pursuance of her invariable policy in Central Asia, Russia, by liberal treatment, succeeded in making her rule acceptable to the natives in Kuldja, and it is stated they so much prefer it to Chinese domination that they have emigrated in large numbers into Muscovite territory rather than remain after the country has been handed over to China. Under these circumstances it will be readily understood that, when the Kashgarians shall have recovered somewhat from the prostration which continual wars and terrible massacres have, during the last twenty years, involved them in, they will again be in a position to give trouble to China, and, if aided by Russia, to render the continued occupation of their country exceedingly difficult and costly. The Chinese Government were ill-advised to undertake the reconquest of so remote and unwilling a dependency, which is, moreover, always so accessible to Russian intrigue. They were, however, bent upon its subjugation at all hazards, and, as we have seen, not only succeeded in reimposing their rule over Kashgaria, but, at the risk of a war with that Power, insisted upon the restoration of Kuldja by Russia. Their continued possession of the recovered provinces depends upon the exhibition of a liberal spirit towards the inhabitants, the maintenance of a large and thoroughly efficient body of troops there, the establishment of more effective means of communication with the frontiers of Kaushi, and the exercise of a sleepless vigilance to counteract Russian intrigue. No precaution can be too great, no watchfulness too keen, where the insidious advance of the Muscovite Bear has to be guarded against. [Since writing the above the papers brought on by the American mail have come to hand, from which we extract the following telegram, dated St. Petersburg, December 5th:—The Novoe Vremya says—"The Chinese intend to extensively fortify the western frontier of Kuldja when they occupy that district next spring, and transfer 8,000 families from Kashgaria to replace those who emigrated to Russia. There have been two Mussulman revolts in the last four months against the Chinese garrison at Yang Hussar, and 200 Chinese were massacred. Two hundred rebels were subsequently beheaded." The above intelligence, if correct, is strongly confirmatory of our remarks as to the nature of the Chinese tenure of Kashgaria.]

The Danish steamer Valmen went to Aberdeen Dock yesterday.

The delivery of the French mail was begun at 6.25 yesterday morning.

The delivery of the American mail was begun at 5.50 yesterday evening

The Agents (Messrs. Russell and Co.) inform us that the Union Line steamer Oxfordshire left Singapore for this port yesterday morning.

A parade and inspection of the Volunteer and Government Fire Brigades will take place at the Central Fire Brigade Station at 3.30 o'clock p.m. to-day.

Willard's Wanderers will repeat their grand Christmas pantomime of "Harlequin Blue Beard" at the Theatre Royal, City Hall, this evening.

We are requested to remind the special jurors in the case of Graça v. Pitman that their attendance is required at 10 a.m. to-day, as that is the hour for which the case is set down for hearing.

We have to acknowledge the receipt of copies of two medical treatises, in Chinese, by Dr. J. G. Kerr, of Canton—the one on "Fevers, their Nature and Treatment," and the other on "Inflammation."

We learn from the Spanish Consul that, according to a telegram received yesterday from His Excellency the Governor-General of the Philippines, the quarantine regulations will cease to be enforced in the ports of those Islands for the present.

The following are the officers of the Eathen Mark Lodge of Hongkong, for 1882:—W. M., J. T. Chater; S. W., L. Mallory; J. W., W. K. Hughes; Master Overseer, T. I. Rose; Senior Overseer, E. Cops; Junior Overseer, E. Georg; Coombs; Secretary, F. Jordan; S. D., E. B. Josey; J. D., T. G. Williamson; Director of Ceremonies, A. N. E. Judah; Organist, — Wright; I. G., C. L. Balfour; Steward, W. Gaskell; Tyler, F.—Grimble.

The inquest on the body of Loung Awong, a carpenter who was killed by a fall from a house in course of erection in Aberdeen-street, was resumed yesterday afternoon at the Magistracy. Inspector Lindsay said he had visited the scene of the accident. The house was one in course of erection at the foot of Aberdeen-street, and the deceased must have fallen from a height of 14 feet 4 inches on to some stones, from a scaffolding of three planks which was there for the purpose of making the verandah. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

The commercial report for the past year of Her Britannic Majesty's Consul at Tehung gives a novel and characteristic method the Chinese youths, coming from the interior, have of defraying the expenses attendant on the civil and military examinations, held in that city, for which they present themselves:—"The youth of the prefecture assembled here for the triennial examinations, 1,300 candidates for the civil examinations, and 1,000 for the military. The great majority of these literary youths came here with their pockets and baggage full of smuggled opium, some of which they smoked, and the rest they sold to defray the expenses of examinations. This is the school in which Chinese officials are trained now-a-days."

On the arrival of the O. & O. steamer Gaelic at San Francisco, Captain Kidley, who has been in command of that vessel for some years during which he made himself most popular with the numerous passengers who have travelled by that vessel, received instructions to proceed home to assume command of the new White Star steamer Coptic, trading between New York and Liverpool. We know that this change has long been desired by Captain Kidley whose family is in Liverpool; and his promotion is both gratifying and deserved. Before leaving the vessel, the officers made a presentation, consisting of a centre piece of silver, and an ice pitcher and salver complete, to Captain Kidley, in token of their high appreciation of those qualities which had earned the esteem of all who served under him. The command of the Gaelic has been given to Captain Hallett, R.N., late of Her Majesty's yacht Osborne.—Japan Gazette.

The Pall Mall Gazette publishes an article on the Blockade of Hongkong, which is merely a résumé of the question. It concludes as follows:—"The Chinese are said to have been maturing for some time past a scheme for dealing with the difficulty, which, judging from trustworthy information respecting it, would seem to strike at the root of this and other abuses in the foreign trade of China. The main features of this project are stated to be the purchase of the opium by the Chinese from the Indian Government, instead of the usual public auctions in Bengal, and the conveyance of the drug to China in steamers under Chinese control. The opium would thus be in the hands of the Chinese from the moment it left those of the Government of India. Many difficulties in detail will suggest themselves on consideration. Should this scheme ever be carried out, it will, of course, be necessary to prohibit the conveyance of opium in British vessels to any port in China, to make arrangements for the wants of the Chinese community of Hongkong, on which an important item in the revenue of the colony depends, and to restrict the growth of the poppy in India to a certain quantity. These and other details must be thoroughly discussed before any final settlement can be attained. It is clear that some settlement is imperatively required for the growth and prosperity of our trade, as well as for the maintenance of our friendly relations with China."

We take the following items from the London and China Express of the 25th November:—

The gunboat Lapwing arrived at Ascension from the China Station, on the 7th inst., and left the same day for Devonport.

We regret to hear that the sister of the Marquis Tseng, wife of the First Secretary of the Chinese Legation in London, is dangerously ill in Paris.

The Fanfare, French gunboat, left Aden on the 9th ult. for Cochin-China. The Leopard left Suez on the 12th ult., and anchored at Aden on the 1st inst.

We have good reason to believe that the French Foreign Office has not entertained the demand of the Chinese Minister about Tonquin, the question having been settled long ago by the acceptance by China of the Treaty signed between France and Annam.

The following appointments to the China Station are gazetted:—Lieut. H. H. Douglas to the Magpie, vice Baker; Sub-Lieut. G. S. Shuckburgh, to the Iron Duke; Engineer Charles Lane, to the Victor Emanuel, additional for Hongkong Yard, vice Simpcott.

Paymaster James Lewis Kirkness, R.N., secretary to the Commander-in-Chief at Malta, died at that place on the 17th inst. from fever. He served as clerk in the Scout, and took part in the North China campaigns of 1860, and for his services in connection therewith was awarded the China medal.

We understand that instructions have been sent by the Russian Admiralty to the China Station for the clippers Plastoon and Vestnik to proceed on a cruise to Australia. This will leave on the Station only the flagship frigate Prince Pojarsky, the cruiser Asia, the clippers Strelok and Abrek, and two gunboats.

Staff-Commander John E. Chapple, who has been appointed to the Pembroke, in succession to Staff-Commander W. H. Adlam, was master of the Tartar, and was specially mentioned for coolness and skill in navigating his ship under fire at the attack on the batteries in the Straits of Simonoseki in September, 1864.

The Gazette notifies that Major-Gen. William Wilby, C.B., commanding the troops at Ceylon, is to be Supernumerary to the Establishment of General Officers under the provisions of Article 24 I. of the Royal Warrant of the 26th June, 1881; also that Captain C. W. Hare, of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers, has been seconded for service as a Probationer for the Army Pay Department; also that Lieutenant Richard Monteith Greenfield is to be captain, vice A. C. Hill, resigned.

A steamer was launched at Low Walker on the Tyne on the 19th instant, which is intended for service in the Siamese waters. She was christened by Miss Cooper the Suny Wongse, and was built of iron by Messrs. Wigham, Richardson, and Co. Her hull is 250 feet in length, 28½ feet in breadth, and 17 feet in depth. She is specially constructed for high speed and light draft. The engines are of 200-horse power nominal. She has been constructed to the order of Messrs. A. Markwald and Co., of Bangkok.

The Hongkong, built by Wigham, Richardson and Co. for William Milburn and Co.'s China line (Siemssen and Co.), was tried at sea on the 17th inst., and attained a speed of about 12½ knots at the measured mile. After lunch Mr. Charles Milburn expressed the satisfaction of his firm both with this steamer and with the sister vessel, the Peking, which is continuing to give every satisfaction on the Chinese coast. Mr. A. T. Davison, Messrs. Milburn's engineer, under whose superintendence the Hongkong has been built, confirmed the above, and gave some interesting details of the progress of steam navigation in general, and of what has been done by their firm in particular.

The latest mail advices received home were:—Yokohama, via San Francisco October 10th, Manila 11th, Shanghai 12th, Foochow 13th, Saigon 13th; Hongkong 17th, Batavia 18th, and Singapore 22nd. The P. and O. mail, with the advices dated as above, from China and the Straits Settlements (which, owing to the change of monsoon, were ten days later than those received by the previous mail), was delivered, via Brindisi, on the 21st instant, one day in advance of its due date. The Japan advices were received, via San Francisco, on the 16th instant. The next inward (French) mail, with a week's later news, was despatched from Suez, per Messageries Maritimes steamer Iraouaddy on the 18th instant, two days early.

At the meeting of the Law Amendment Society on the 21st inst., Sir John Smale, as announced in our last issue, gave the opening address. Sir John referred more particularly to the subject of Slavery in Hongkong, and asserted that the official papers about to be issued on the subject will show that there are still twenty thousand persons "bond servants," held by bills of sale and similar devices. The bondage system is admitted to be expressly contrary to the Queen's Proclamation of 1845, enforcing the abolition of [illegible] ping, nor does it deter from the worst forms of detention in brothels and domestic servitude. Sir John produced the original, and read a translation of a bill of sale drawn in Chinese, and consigning a lad on the part of his parents to slavery.

The trade on the riverside at Hamburg, although somewhat slow at the beginning of the past week, has of late considerably improved, and a fine fleet of transatlantic vessels has made its appearance, many of them from very long voyages. From China only the Hesperia, steamer, Paterson, has arrived, and the Clara, Lüdig, for Shanghai, is the only vessel sailed in this direction. The berth at present is occupied by the Electra, steamer, and Marsalia, steamer, (both before reported), to leave respectively on 25th of November and 30th of December, for their usual route. Carlos, steamer, Haesloop, for Penang, Singapore, Bangkok, and Hongkong, to leave in the middle of December; Ficciola, steamer, Ost, for Manila and Hongkong, to leave in a few days; and Paul, Elisbath, for Hongkong. For Shanghai the berth is at present unoccupied.

At the Westminster Aquarium a remarkable specimen of humanity attracts much curiosity. This is "Captain George Costenteuus," whose body has been subjected to an extraordinary process of tattooing. He is an Albanian Greek, and while engaged in gold mining in the service of the late Khan of Kashgar he, with an Englishman and an American, headed an emeute of the miners, which was suppressed, and the three leaders were condemned to be tattooed, a mode of punishment considered worse than death. His companions succumbed during the process, but after enduring fearful agony Costentenus thoroughly recovered. His entire body is tattooed, being completely covered with 388 beautifully delineated figures in indigo and cinnabar of beasts, birds, fishes, reptiles, and hieroglyphics. It is calculated that to produce this result no less than 7,000,000 punctures of the skin were necessary.

As an instance of the important shipbuilding orders being placed in England on French account, the Economiste Francais publishes the following list of French ships launched from English dockyards during the week ending 5th inst.:—From Greenock, by Scott and Co., steamer Cantonnais, for Compagnie des Messageries Postals de Cochin China; from Liverpool, by Thomas Royden and Co., steamer Britannia, for Cyprian Fabe and Co., Marseilles; from Dumbarton, A. M'Millan and Son, steamer Stamboul, for Fraissinet, Marseilles (the same builders are still engaged for the Marseilles firm in completing an order for four steamers); from Greenock, by Caird and Co., steamer Saigon for the Compagnie des Messageries Maritimes. In the previous week, from Scotswood, a steamer of 3,200 tons was launched for account of Cicero Broron, of Havre. Altogether for the week English yards have turned out 10,500 tons of steamers for France, say a value of four or five million francs.

At the first meeting for the present session of the Edinburgh branch of the Pharmaceutical Society, held at No. 119, George-street—Mr. J. B. Stephenson in the chair—a number of specimens of opium which had been sent by Mr. Hugh M'Calhm, of the Hongkong Government Civil Hospital, were exhibited. In a short descriptive paper Mr. M'Callum said:—I have visited a number of opium-smoking houses of different classes, but have not been fortunate enough to see a single case of that profound sleep from indulgence in the opium pipe which has been described. Having failed to see this reputed effect of opium smoking, I determined to try its effects upon myself, and at my first attempt smoked twelve pipes in less than an hour, which was equal to about thirty-five grains of extract, and was much astonished to find that I could detect no abnormal feeling of any kind. Since then I have frequently had a pipe, and with similar results. That it has some fascinating influence on the Chinese is undoubted, as many of them will rather go without food than without their opium pipe; nevertheless, I am satisfied that the effects of opium-smoking and opium-eating are not in any way analogous, and it is very doubtful if they are due to the same proximate principle. No doubt the habit of smoking opium is bad, but not nearly so vile and injurious to health as it is generally assumed and persistently stated to be, nor is it likely that the Chinese are or ever will be poisoned by opium, so long as they only smoke and avoid eating it.

CRICKET.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND UNIVERSITIES v. THE WORLD.

This year the Public Schools called in the aid of the Universities in the annual match against The World, and the Middlesex Captain winning the toss determined on going in first. Charley and the Secretary had charge of the bowling and it was at once seen the long drought had made the wicket very fiery, a number of the expresses going clean over the sticks. Walker was in capital form and rattled up his score quickly, (5s, two 4s, and six 3s, being in his contribution), until he was snapped by Hadley at the wicket. Stebbing was bent on hitting, but had the fielders been as bent on catching his total would have been a little smaller. Forbes and Brown made a stand, the former as usual being very busy until he fell a victim to the wicket keeper and the Harrow man played in excellent form until an adverse LBW decision sent him to the Pavilion. Whyte was beginning to get set when, to the great relief of the fielders, he became the third victim to the dexterity of the Royal Engineer, and no great stand being subsequently made, 164 runs were set The World.

Travers and Winslow were the first to essay this task, Stebbing and Brown being the bowlers, with the lobs for a corps de reserve. The Fly Lieutenant commenced with a good square leger up the hill for 5, but was shortly after c and b Brown, and the Secretary, who followed, was easily taken by one of his own men. The Fusilier was again not in it, but the Engineer effected some slashing leg hits before Stebbing, who had been bowling well without success up to this time, lowered his wicket. St. Croix and Bell Irving paid the penalty of going out to slows and not going far enough, and Newcombe was neatly taken at short leg after having played a remarkably pretty innings. D'Almeida and Wilson raised the hopes of The World, but when the case was getting critical, the "lobster" put himself on and an over finished matters and left the Schools and Universities victors by 21 runs.

SUPREME COURT.

4th January.

ORIGINAL JURISDICTION.

BEFORE THE ACTING CHIEF JUSTICE, HON. F. SNOWDEN.

DA ROZA v. HO ATIM.

Mr. Hayllar, Q.C., instructed by Messrs. Browning and Watton, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Francis, instructed by Messrs. Stephens and Holmes, for the defendant.

Mr. Hayllar said in this case there was a claim and counter-claim, and proceeded to read the pleadings. The petition set out that the plaintiff is a land broker, and the defendant a trader. By an agreement in writing, entered into on the 20th September last, the plaintiff agreed to sell, and the defendant to purchase, Marine lot No. 25, at a price of $2.75 per square foot, the transaction to be completed on the 31st December, and the plaintiff to pay $5,000 as deposit, on which no interest should be charged as against the plaintiff. This sum was due at the time of the making of the agreement, but the defendant had refused to pay the same, and the plaintiff now sought to recover that amount by this suit. The defendant, by his answer, admitted that he agreed to purchase the land mentioned, but denied that he agreed to pay $5,000 or any other sum by way of deposit, or that any such sum was due from him. He alleged that the plaintiff by his representations induced him to believe that Marine lot No. 25 was formerly the property of the Hongkong Pier and Godown Company, Limited, and he (the defendant) believed he was purchasing property much more valuable than Marine lot No. 25. By his counter-claim he asked to have the contract set aside and delivered up to be cancelled on the ground of mistake. The plaintiff's answer to the counter-claim was a simple denial. The contract, the learned counsel said, was a printed form filled in by Ho Atim himself. He read the document, which contained the words, "the said Ho Atim has paid the sum of $5,000 as deposit," which he said meant that the signing of the contract and the paying of the money should be contemporaneous, but in point of fact Mr. Ho Atim did not pay the money, and had never done so, and he now sat up the ground that he thought he was buying one piece of land and found it was another. He (the learned counsel) thought if ever there was a case in which the maxim of caveat emptor applied this was one. When a man bought a piece of ground like that, if he made a mistake it was his own look-out. But Mr. da Roza denied having made any such representations as were alleged against him, and his story was that Ho Atim knew the piece of ground, Marine lot No. 25, just as well as any one in the colony. Ho Atim was a person very familiar with land and it was extremely unlikely he would make such a mistake as he said he did. But another part of the plaintiff's case was that a mistake, in order to be rectified, must be mutual. He was not charged with anything further than representations leading to a mistake; it was not alleged that there was fraud. But of course mistake must be proved in a very clear manner; it might be proved by verbal testimony, but it must be in the most clear and satisfactory manner in order to avail as a defence to an action for specific performance. But the plaintiff was not suing now for specific performance, but on a clause in the contract which had not been fulfilled, namely, the paying of the deposit money, and he (the learned counsel) knew of no case in which mistake could be set up as an answer to a claim of that kind.

The plaintiff was then called. He said—I am a land broker. On the 20th September I entered into the contract produced. It is a printed form, and it was filled up in writing by Mr. Ho Atim. The $5,000 deposit money has never been paid. I have demanded it. At no time before the contract was made did I mention anything about the Pier and Godown Company. The matter was settled at one interview. I met Mr. Ho Atim at Mr. Wotton's and he took me to his own place, where he filled up the agreement and signed it. I do not know whether he knew the property or not. I saw him the day after the contract was signed, and he said he would pay the money the next day. He did not do so.

By Mr. Francis—I am not the owner of the property, nor was I on the 20th September last. I have no share in it. I did tell Mr. Ho Atim when I met him that I had some property at Wanchai for sale. He did not ask me whether it was foreign or Chinese owned, and I did not tell him that it was the property formerly owned by the Pier and Godown Company. I pointed out the lot, No. 25, on the map at Mr. Wotton's office. I do not know what the number of the Pier and Godown Company's lot is. He did not offer me $2.50 per foot. The price of $2.75 was agreed upon at once. I went with him to his shop at once. He got the printed form from me and filled it up at my request, because it was dark and I could not see. I wanted to let it stand over until the next day, but he wanted it settled at once. The property is about a hundred yards to the west of the Pier and Godown Company's lot. When I told him to put in my own name as the vendor he did not ask me how that was: He did not express any astonishment. I did not tell him that I had bought the property from a gentleman in England. I had no contract for the purchase of it, nor have I now. I did not give any contract signed by me to Ho Atim, but I signed one next day at Mr. Wotton's office, and I was waiting for the $5,000 bargain money. It was the same piece of paper that had been signed by Ho Atim that I signed at Mr. Wotton's. Li Sing signed only as confirming the contract, not as witnessing the signatures. He is the owner of the property. Mr. Ho Atim signed on the 20th, and I signed on the 21st. It was on the 21st that Li Sing signed as confirming the contract. I mentioned this fact to the defendant on the second day after the contract was entered into, when I went for the money. I do not know that the same property is agreed to be sold by Li Sing to Lu Sui Wan and is registered.

By Mr. Hayllar—I have been in a position to assign this property at any time. I am quite sure I pointed out the property on the map. The map is marked out in lots, and also shows the pier. I told Mr. Ho Atim next day that the property belonged to Mr. Li Sing, and he said nothing.

By his Lordship—I called upon him to pay the money next day. He asked for another day. I assented, and went the following day. I asked him for the money, and he then said he did not want the lot. He has refused to pay. I hold the agreement in my possession intending to deliver it to him when he paid the money.

Mr. W. Wotton, solicitor, said—I have the title deeds of this property in my possession, and I have instructions to sue the assignment to Ho Atim concluded under the contract made on the 20th September between Roza and Ho Atim. The property will be assigned on the payment by Ho Atim of the price. I was not present at the time of the pointing out of the lot on the map.

By Mr. Francis—I hold the title deeds from Li Sing, the owner of the property, direct. I do not know, and do not believe, that the lot is under contract to be sold to Lu Sui Wan. The map I refer to is in the passage leading to my office; it is not an old one, but a very new one. There was not a letter written from our office asking Ho Atim to come to the office to sign a fresh contract.

By Mr. Hayllar—I did write a letter on the 23rd September demanding payment of the $5,000. I received no answer.

By his Lordship—I did not see Li Sing sign. His name was on the contract when it came into my possession. I got it on the 23rd, when I wrote the letter, and it has been in my possession ever since

This closed the plaintiff's case.

Mr. Francis asked his Lordship if it was any use going on, as it appeared the land was not and never had been the property of the plaintiff, who professed to sell it.

His Lordship said the plaintiff might have acquired the land before the date for the completion of the contract. It constantly happened in commercial life that people sold goods before they were possessed of them.

Mr. Francis then submitted the plaintiff had made no case. This was a contract for the sale and purchase of land, and under the statute of frauds all the essential parts must be in writing. Mr. Roza put it the payment of the $5,000 bargain money was an essential part of the contract. There was no consent in writing of Ho Atim to pay that money. If the document was to be taken for anything the money was paid, but he submitted that printed words of that kind in a common form—which, late in the evening when there was not light enough for Mr. da Roza to see by, he took out of his pocket, and asked Mr. Ho Atim to fill in—went for nothing. It was a statement that $5,000 had been paid. Out of those words there could not be twisted a contract to pay $5,000; it was a statement that something had been done, not an agreement to do anything. The subscribed in the first instance that there was no agreement to pay $5,000 or any other sum as deposit money. In connection with that he would bring to his Lordship's notice Mr. Roza's attitude in that matter. He never delivered the contract to Ho Atim, and he told them why he did not. If it was essential to the completion of the contract that the $5,000 should be paid, and there was to be no contract unless it was, then there had been no contract at all with reference to this land, because Mr. Roza said the reason he did not deliver the contract was because what he considered an essential to there being any contract never was complied with. On the other hand, if it was an agreement to be carried out at some other time, then that should be stated in writing, and there were proper and appropriate words in which to state it, such as "at the time of the signing of this agreement Ho Atim agrees to pay," etc. There was no agreement to pay the money, but simply a statement that it had been paid, and he submitted that did not constitute such an agreement as was required by the statute of frauds. If it was anything at all it was an essential part of the contract; it was not a collateral agreement; if it was there was no consideration for it. The agreement was, "If you agree to pay $2.75 per foot, and $5,000 of the amount down now, I agree to sell this land." That was the only agreement under which the plaintiff could sue now, but no such contract was, he submitted, proved. He would ask his Lordship to decide now that there was no case for him to answer.

Mr. Hayllar said he scarcely knew what the argument amounted to. Here was a written contract to sell to a person a property at $2.75 a foot, and all that was stated in the agreement was that of the purchase money which he agreed to pay $5,000 was due at once. That had not been paid. Of course it might be that the plaintiff could upset the contract on that ground if he liked; if he chose to sell the property to some one else he might be in a position to do it, but he was also in a position to hold the defendant to his bargain. The defendant bought from the plaintiff a piece of land at a price of which not only did he agree to pay $5,000 down, but he was actually supposed to have paid it then and there on the signing of the contract. He had not done so. The plaintiff, instead of treating this as a condition making the contract defeasible, held the defendant to his bargain. The contract was good under the statute of frauds; it was signed by the party to be charged therewith; it contained the price, the description of the property, and all the essentials, and it was not even necessary that the portion of the purchase money to be paid down at once should be stated in writing; but it was stated. The agreement was to pay the $5,000 then and there. That Ho Atim had not the contract in his possession was nothing at all; the plaintiff was the party suing upon it, and it was of course in his possession.

Mr. Francis said his learned friend had evaded the point. He (Mr. Francis) only mentioned incidentally the question of defeasibility. There was a perfectly good contract, if it was not vitiated, for the sale of the land, but the plaintiff was suing now on a contract to pay $5,000 on the date of signature. His contention was that the plaintiff had proved no contract to pay $5,000 on that date. The plaintiff's cause of action was not what had occurred on the 31st December, when he might possibly have sued to have the whole of the purchase money paid and the land taken over; he was simply suing for $5,000, which he said was due and owing by the defendant on the 20th September, and his (the learned counsel's) contention was that there was no such sum owing. If it was part of the contract for the sale and purchase of the land it must be, like the rest, reduced to writing; it was not reduced to writing, and did not appear before his Lordship.

His Lordship said he would not decide the point now, but would reserve it in favour of Mr. Francis.

Mr. Francis then opened the other part of his case, and said that if the counter-claim were disposed of now it would get rid of the possible necessity of a subsequent action by the other side for specific performance and dispose of the whole question arising out of the contract, because if there had not been the mistake alleged, then the contract was on the face of it a good one, and if there was nothing ab extra to entitle his Lordship to set it aside, the defendant was bound on the 31st December to take it over. But Ho Atim's statement was that when he met Mr. Roza in Queen's-road, as they were moving along, Mr. Roza made a general statement that he had some property at Wanchai for sale, that it belonged to foreigners, and that they were asking $3 per square foot. Ho Atim asked him whether it was really foreign owned property or Chinese, as nearly all the best of the property in that part at that time was owned by foreigners, and the answer was that it belonged to foreigners. Then Ho Atim said "It must be some portion of the Old Pier and Godown Company's property," and he was quite sure that in reply to that Mr. Roza said it was. Some bargaining then took place between them. Ho Atim offered $2.50, then $2.60, and then Mr. Roza showed him a piece of paper, which was an authority from Wong Chuk Lum to buy the property at $2.60. Ho Atim then went up to $2.75. Roza then left, and later in the day went to Ho Atim's shop and said he would accept the offer, and he took a contract paper, the printed form which had been put in, out of his pocket, and asked Ho Atim to fill it up, as he could not see very clearly. Ho Atim then filled it up, putting in the blanks just whatever Roza told him. There was some further conversation about the lot, and the ownership of it, as Ho Atim expressed surprise that Roza's own name was to be put in as that of the vendor, and the explanation Roza gave was that he had bought the lot from a gentleman in England and it was his property at that time. Ho Atim would say that he then again made inquiry as to the locality of the lot and was told it was part of the old Pier and Godown Company's lot. He would have given nothing like the value for it he agreed to do if he had known what property it was and had he not believed it was part of the Pier and Godown Company's lot. In addition to Ho Atim the only other witness would be Mr. Gaedes, who late that afternoon or on the following day, met Ho Atim, who told him he had bought a portion or the whole of the Pier and Godown Company's lot.

Mr. Hayllar said that would not be evidence.

Mr. Francis said it was to show the state of Ho Atim's mind at the time.

His Lordship said that what the defendant said afterwards would not be evidence for himself.

Mr. Francis, continuing his address, said that Ho Atim was then informed that there must be some mistake, that he could not have bought the Pier and Godown Company's property, as it was sold to some one else, and then it was, as his Lordship saw, that he refused the next day to have anything to do with it. This was in September, too, when the land speculation fever was at its height.

Mr. Hayllar said the fever was past at that time and the shivering had commenced.

The defendant was then called, he said—I am a pawnbroker and owner of property. On the 19th September I met Mr. da Roza in Queen's-road Central, a little away from Messrs. Brereton and Wotton's office, about four o'clock. He spoke to me first, He said he had some marine lots in Wanchai for sale. I asked him what property it was. He said it belonged to a foreigner. I thought in my mind that no property there belonged to a foreigner except the property that belonged to the old Pier and Godown Company. I knew that that property belonged to Meyer and Co., and that it was the only property in that part belonging to foreigners that was for sale. I asked the price and he said $3 per foot. I offered $2.25. He then showed me a paper signed by Wong Chuk Lum containing an offer of $2.60. Nothing farther was said at that time about the description of the property. He said it was lot No. 25. After I saw the paper signed by Wong Chuk Lum I increased my offer to $2.75. Plaintiff then left me. I thought the lot was the Pier and Godown Company's property. I thought that because he said it was the property of a foreigner. I knew that Li Sing, of the Wo Hang firm, had a Marine lot in Wanchai. It was offered to me for $25,000, and I refused to give that price for it. When I was told it was the property of a foreigner that was offered for sale I never imagined it was Li Sing's property. About six o'clock the same evening plaintiff came to me and said he would accept my offer. First he wanted me to give him an order authorising him to buy and was looking for a printed form to that effect, but not finding one he took out the contract paper produced and asked me to fill it up, which I did. When I saw that his own name was put down, I asked him how it was he was the vendor, and he told me he had bought the property from a friend in England. He never told me it was Li Sing's property, or the property of Chinese at all. Had I known it was Li Sing's property I would never have thought of buying it, as I could never make a profit on it. It had been offered to me for $25,000 and I had refused it. $2.75 per foot makes the price about $72,000. The difference in the value of the two lots I should say is about $1 per foot. On the 21st I found in conversation with Mr. J. M. Guedes that the property was not the one I thought it was, and the next time I saw Mr. da Roza I told him I would have nothing to do with it. We did not at any time meet in Mr. Wotton's office in reference to this contract. He never pointed out to me the lot on the map in Mr. Wotton's office.

His Lordship said the defendant's evidence did not show any misrepresentation.

Mr. Francis said there was the statement that it was property of foreigner.

His Lordship said that such a statement as that did not go to the essence of the contract, and the maxim ut caveat emptor came in.

Mr. Francis said there was a want of mutuality; there was a mist

MADRAS, 13th December.

This afternoon an imposing parade was held on the Island by the Commander-in-Chief for the purpose of presenting the Victoria Cross to Private Ashford, second Battalion, Royal Fusiliers. General Roberts was accompanied by the Governor and the Maharajah of Vizianagram, and a brilliant staff. There were five thousand troops on the ground, including the body guard, two batteries of artillery, a battalion of Fusiliers, four Native Infantry regiments, the Volunteer Artillery and the Infantry Volunteers. The Fusiliers formed the three sides of a Square. General Roberts and the Governor and Staffs having entered the Square, Private Ashford was called to the front. The Commander-in-Chief addressed him as follows:—"It affords me great pleasure, Private Ashford, to present to you the Victoria Cross which Her Majesty has been graciously pleased to confer on you. I am especially glad to have this opportunity of seeing the Royal Fusiliers, for I well know the hard work they had to do in Afghanistan, and how admirably they conducted themselves while there. I was not at Kandahar on the 16th of August, 1880, but I heard from all that on that occasion the battalion nobly maintained its high reputation. It must be very gratifying to your comrades to see you decorated in this public manner. My regret is that the whole of the battalion could not be present, but those who are at Belari will, however, hear that the parade was attended by His Excellency the Governor and a large number of principal residents of Madras; and it will, I am sure, be pleasing to them, as it is to us all, that your gallant conduct should be thus specially recognised." Private Ashford subsequently followed the Commander-in-Chief and the Governor to the Flag Staff, and stood between Their Excellencies' horses as the troops marched past and saluted. The parade was witnessed by a very dense crowd. Private Ashford and Lieutenant Chase of the Bombay Staff Corps were awarded the Victoria Cross for their conspicuous gallantry on the occasion of the sortie from Kandahar on the above mentioned date against the village of Deh Kojah. They carried Private Massay of the Fusiliers, who was wounded, over two hundred yards under fire of the enemy, and brought him to a place of safety.

The Chairman appointed a committee of seven, whose duty it is to call a future Convention, to confer and act with leaders of different organizations here represented, or any other that may hereafter be organized to further the interests and Irish rights, in promoting objects and redeeming pledges. The Chair appointed on such committee: Judge Birdsall, Connecticut; Michael Boland, New York; Patrick Ford, New York; P. A. Collins, Massachusetts; W. B. IMPERIAL QUARTO.

ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY,
WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.

An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have to late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterised Chinese publications.

To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration:—Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto published.

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally.

It comprises upwards of two thousand large quarto pages.

A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made to Purchasers of SIX or more Copies.
